Items Worthy of notice to the County Board:

Things have been busy in the Probation Department as usual. We have been engaged in training for new staff and officers that have changed positions, can be a bit chaotic. The probation supervisors have really stepped up their training efforts and completely revamped the training to comply with AOIC new supervision standards. This approach ensures our officers are working WITH the client to address the specific behaviors driving their criminal justice involvement. This intentional focus and client engagement yields better results and a reduction in risk of harm to the community. We will be monitoring outcomes closely.

Additionally, we have made significant upgrades to our pretrial program resulting in improved accuracy of information reported to the court. We are on track to begin the process of applying for NAPSA accreditation. This accreditation process can take up to two years, as it is a methodical evaluation of our program. We have begun the process of finalizing our policies and procedures to mirror best practices and anticipate beginning the application process this summer.

I would like to thank the Circuit Clerk's Office for working so diligently with us to develop a system of collecting monies previously collected by probation. I know this has put an additional burden on staff, as we have had to be creative in recording due to limitations of the existing case management system currently in use by the Circuit Clerk's Office. They have been working through this process and I am happy to say, the probation department no longer collects any money.

Lastly, we are welcoming a new staff member. Malinda Bishop is joining us from the Circuit Clerk's Office as our new Support Staff Receptionist. Malinda comes with great reviews from the Clerk's Office and is has been a valuable asset to their department. We are excited to have her join us as the first point of contact for the public coming to our department for services.
