NEW/OLD BUSINESS

Historic Structure Survey Training

Ken Itle, of Wiss, Janney, Elstner Associates, Inc. (WJE), explained the deliverables. The deliverables are the narrative report and survey forms. Mr. Itle explained the research methodology using plat maps and atlases. He explained the importance of visiting each site, noting existing buildings, and noting building materials. He provided a sample form for a site visit; the information is for the exterior only. Foundations should be noted; every structure should be documented, if visible, including dog houses and swimming pools.

Discussion occurred regarding pre-visit communication; a postcard could be mailed to property owners.

Discussion occurred regarding steps for visiting a property, including knocking on the door and explaining the process. If a property owner does not want you on the property, leave the property. If the property has no trespassing signs and looks unfriendly, don't go on the property. Brochures will also be handed out onsite.

Twelve (12) to fifteen (15) properties can be visited during one (1) day. A site visit lasts between fifteen (15) and thirty (30) minutes, starting around 9:00 a.m. There would be sixteen (16) total days to survey both townships. Volunteers would be asked to help between three (3) and five (5) days. Discussion occurred regarding how volunteers and WJE staff coordinate visits. The hope is to have the field work completed by Christmas.

Mr. Itle explained which properties were identified for surveying, including churches, cemeteries, and small bridges.

Discussion occurred regarding why Bristol and Kendall Townships were selected and the plans to do the other townships. Discussion occurred regarding WJE's surveys in Will County.

Discussion occurred regarding Boulder Hill and the history of Bristol Township.

Mr. Asselmeier will give Mr. Itle the Commission's previous site pictures.

Attendees reviewed Mr. Itle's planning map.

Discussion occurred regarding how to handle dogs when visiting a property.

The group left at 9:36 a.m. for the Harris Forest Preserve at 10460 Route 71, Yorkville.

Site Visit for Survey Practice

The group started surveying the Harris Forest Preserve at 10460 Route 71, Yorkville, at 9:49 a.m. Member Bernacki did not attend the practice.

Chairman Wehrli explained the history of the Forest Preserve. Mr. Nakaerts explained the history of the fairgrounds property.

Mr. Itle discussed techniques for taking pictures.

Visits will be cancelled if it is raining.

Mr. Itle explained what to note when examining a structure, including roof, siding, and foundation. Windmills are considered buildings.

Only one (1) crew would be out per day doing surveys.

Discussion occurred regarding how the sled hill came into existence.

ADJOURNMENT

Attendees completed the practice at 10:17 a.m.

Good morning,

Let me introduce myself - I am the Chair of the Plainfield Historic Preservation Commission and I tried to call all of you on Friday afternoon, August 5 to speak to you about the possibility of co-sponsoring a CAMP on Historic Preservation in 2023 with Plainfield's Historic Preservation Commission for you, your Commissioners and other staff interested in learning more about historic preservation.

I was able to speak to Jayne Bernhard, the staff person at Joliet and Valeria Tarka, the new staff person at Oswego & introduced myself to both of them & told them that I would be sending out this email to the four area historic preservation Commissions - Joliet, Kendall County, Oswego & Will County. I have previously spoken to Matt Asselmeier & attended several meetings with the Kendall County HPC before they became one of Illinois' newest CLG communities & have spoken & worked with the new Chair of the Will County HPC, Dan Seggebruch.

I was appointed to Plainfield's Historic Preservation Commission in the Fall of 2004 after having retired from teaching high school for 34 years. My wife & I built a new house in Plainfield & moved there in 2002. As a teacher, I taught World History, World Geography, U.S. History & World Cultures. I was appointed Vice-Chairperson & was the only retired member of the Commission. Because of my interest in history, my research into local properties became valuable for the Commission & I have continued to pursue that passion & try to educate local residents about preservation & dispel pre-conceived & misinformation about historic preservation when ever & where ever possible. Initially I was a novice when it came to historic preservation however through mentoring by the Commission's former Chair & attending meetings & CAMPs I have become more knowledgeable & passionate about the subject. Since most of my Commissioners have full-time jobs & I am retired, I have considerably more time to do research where needed for the Commission, co-write Landmark nominations & work with our Staff on preservation business.

I attended my first CAMP training session at the 2013 all-day Illinois State Convention for preservation in Evanston and in the Spring of 2015, Plainfield & Will County co-sponsored a CAMP at the I & M Canal Office in Lockport on a Saturday morning which is the home of the Will County Historical Society. In 2017, Plainfield, Will County & Joliet sponsored another CAMP in downtown Plainfield at the 1892 Masonic Block Building. We had Commissioners & Staff from those 3 Commissions, plus other Commissioners from Kankakee, Oswego, Lockport & Kendall County. Both CAMPs lasted all day with lunch & were partially paid by a CLG Grant from the State & National Park Service with the remainder paid by the 3 attending Commissions.

I recently spoke to Marie Snyder, the Program Manager for the National Alliance of Preservation Commissions (NAPC) to inquire about the cost of having a CAMP next year. The cost for a 2023 face-to-face CAMP with 3 presenters from NAPC covering 6 topics (plus we can choose those topics) that fits best with the needs of our Commissions would be $7,000 & a CLG grant in the past covered 70% of the cost or $4,900 & the remaining $2,100 would be paid by the 3 Commissions at $700 each & if we had 4 or 5 commissions attending, that cost would be lower. Camps normally accommodate 30 & extra attendees would pay $35 each plus the cost of lunch - but we will worry about that later since our previous experiences has been that not all Commissioners/staff are able to attend either during the week or wish to give up a Saturday since most Commissioners work full-time during the week. I do know that in Plainfield we have 2 new Staff & possibly 1 new Commissioner & our Commission was recently been reduced to 7 from 9 & I believe that Oswego also has a Commission of 7, Kendall County has 6, Joliet & Will County each have 9.

Right now I am asking which Commissions might be interested in co-sponsoring with Plainfield to create a CAMP Meeting in 2023? - Send me an email or give me a call on my cell. I have also attached a copy of the 2017 Camp proposal

Three other notes for interested Chairs/Staff -

1. Landmarks Illinois is sponsoring a meeting of the Suburban Preservation Alliance on Saturday, September 17 in Naperville at 9 - 11 am. The meeting is free & this is an attempt to get this organization back on track. If you are interested you should contact Bonnie McDonald at Landmarksillinois.org - (bmcDonald@landmarksillinois.org - 312-515-1545) & mention that you would like to attend.

2. For those of you who are not familiar with NAPC - National Alliance of Preservation Commissions & their CAMPs or website, I offer you this.....NAPC can provide additional digital copies of their Alliance Review - NAPC quarterly journal to your Commission members & there are individual memberships as well as memberships for the City or Village Commission; NAPC, P.O.Box 1011, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23451 - 757-802-4141; napcommissions.org You can also reach out to Marie Snyder - marie@napcommission.org - Program Manager & Stephanie Paul - stephanie@napcommissions.org - Program Director - both can be reached at 757-802-4141

3. Also Commission members & Staff may want to join The National Trust for Historic Preservation - they have a quarterly magazine celebrating preservation & locally they have been instrumental in putting the Farnsworth House in Plano, IL back in order after recent floods few years ago. If you have never visited this historic house, you should!

Chair - Plainfield Historic Preservation Commission

2017 CAMP PROPOSAL

Plainfield, Joliet, Will County Historic Preservation Commissions

Timeline:

We have secured a site to host the 2017 CAMP presentation – we will use the second floor of the 1892 Masonic Block Building in Plainfield’s Downtown Historic District which was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in September 2013. The building was built by the Masons, who are still the owners – construction was begun in March 1892 and completed in November 1892. The building was recently restored to its original 1892 appearance and was designated a local Village Landmark in October 2014.

For lunch we would like to walk the attendees and CAMP personnel over to the recently restored 1899 Opera House and eat in the restaurant that occupies the second floor of the 1899 building along with the 2016 addition that houses the kitchen, bathrooms, elevator and offices

Participants:

The three Historic Preservation Commissions listed above have agreed to sponsor a Commission Assistance & Mentoring Program (CAMP) for 2017. Each Commission has 9 members plus a staff person to provide logistical support and who acts as a Liaison between the Commission and their local Governmental body to which they provide the necessary expertise in historic preservation. There are a total of 30 possible participants that could ideally be included in the CAMP presentation, however it is unlikely that a date for our proposed CAMP could possibly accommodate every member. Once the date has been set, the chairs of each Commission can poll their members to ascertain the number of Commissioners that can attend and should we have less than 30 participants, we will reach out to other area local Historic Preservation Commissions and invite their members to fill our quota of 30 participants for this CAMP:

Oswego HPC Kendall County HPC Lockport HPC Naperville HPC
Aurora HPC Kane County HPC St. Charles HPC Geneva HPC

In April 2015, the Historic Preservation Commissions of Will County and Plainfield sponsored a CAMP in Lockport at the I&M Canal Office which is the home of the Will County Historical Society. Five Commissioners from Plainfield attended that CAMP and 3 other Commissioners had attended the CAMP program at the State Conference held in Evanston in 2013. Within the past eighteen months, the Plainfield Historic Preservation Commission has added two new Commissioners and has gained a new Staff person who has very limited formal training in Historic Preservation after our previous staff person took a new position in Antioch, Illinois. Our Commissioners who have attended these CAMP presentations have learned a great deal and are willing to attend these programs provided they can adjust their schedules; thus we have a need and are hoping to get everyone on board with this Camp. The Joliet HPC is looking for a new planner/secretary and hopefully their new hire might be onboard when we convene this CAMP and their current staff person along with their Commissioners would also benefit. The Staff Person for Will County HPC worked with the Plainfield HPC to set up the Spring 2015 conference and when we received the email notifying the CLG Commissions of this CAMP opportunity, we agreed to look for a third local sponsor and ask our Commissioners if they might be interested in attending.

Budget:

The 3 sponsoring Commissions will equally share the 30% local share expense of the CAMP or $700 each and each Commission's attending participants will have their meals paid by their respective communities; the cost for each meal would be between $10 - $20 each. The probabilities exist that we would need to invite additional Commissioners from neighboring CLG communities to reach our quota of 30 participants since finding that date when all Commissioners would be available on any given Saturday. We would invite Commissioners from those Commissions listed under Participants to give them the opportunity to benefit from this experience and have their Community pay for their individual Commissioner's workshop fee and lunch

CAMP Topics:

Based on a list of programs and topics listed on the website for CAMP, it seems appropriate that the CAMP personnel could cover these topics for our personalized day-long program:

CAMP CORE

1. Building Public Support
2. Standards & Guidelines
3. Hands on Design Review Exercise
4. Procedures & Process Sessions
5. CAMP for Real Estate Professionals

20 Historic sites to be marked

Kendall County Record

July 1, 1976

Plaques will be placed at 20 locations in Kendall County this year marking important spots in county history.

In Yorkville, a plaque will be placed on the lawn of the County Office Building marking the spot the time capsule is buried.

The site of the first Kendall County Courthouse will be marked with a plaque. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ketchum now stands on the property at the northeast corner of State Street and Fox Road in Yorkville. A private dwelling on the site was rented shortly after Kendall County was formed in 1841. At the time, $30 was set aside for fitting up the courthouse. The original building consisted of a brick basement and a frame second story. It was tom down in 1898. That first courthouse, which housed county government until 1845, was the scene of the county's first murder trial and also the only slave auction in the county.

A plaque honoring the first mill in the county will be placed in the Yorkville City Park where that mill's stone now sits. The mill was started by John Schneider in 1834 along the Blackberry Creek.

The Yorkville Congregational Church, West Center Street, Yorkville, will be marked with a plaque as the oldest standing church in the county. The church traces its history back to early settlers in Pavillion in 1834. The present sanctuary of the church was dedicated in June 1855.

A plaque will also be placed on the Kendall County Record building, 222 S. Bridge St., Yorkville. It is the oldest existing business in the county. John R. Marshall printed the first issue of the Record on May 7, 1864 in the building, which now houses the Variety Shop. In 1868, he built the present building. Marshall's son, Hugh, and grandson's, John and Robert, published the paper until 1966, when it was sold to Howard Pine. Present owners are Jeff and Kathy Farren. Among early items in the Record were Civil War news and black-bordered pages announcing the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln in April, 1865.

A plaque in Oswego will mark it as the oldest village. It was laid out in 1835 by L.F. Arnold and L.B. Judson, who planned to name it Hudson. The name was changed in a vote by early settlers, some of whom were from Oswego, N.Y.

Oswego was the county seat from 1845 to 1864. Petitions had been sent to the state legislature asking for the change in January 1845 and in an election Sept. 1, 1845, Oswego received a majority of the votes for county seat. A contract was let to Luke W. Swan for the construction of a courthouse there, which was paid off in 1852. By 1859, pressure grew to move the county seat to a more central location and in 1862 a site in Yorkville was chosen. The move was completed in 1864 after which the Oswego courthouse building was used as a village hall and later a school. Now the site is the location of the post office, bank and city park. Both Oswego plaques are at this site.

Two Indian reservations will be marked with Boulders, the Waish-kee-shaw in NaAuSay and Mo-ah-way in Oswego Township. Waish-kee-shaw, a Potowatomi, was the wife of David Laughton who it is believed settled in the county about 1828. She was granted one and a half section at or near the source of the Aux Sable Creek in an 1829 treaty. Mo-ah-way was granted one quarter section adjoining the north edge of Waish-kee-shaw land in the same treaty. There is no information available now on Mo-ah-way, but it is believed that the name was a woman's.

The Chicago to Ottawa Trail will be marked with a plaque on the Ray Vickery farm on Chicago Road in Seward Township. This stagecoach route was established by Dr. John L. a weekly stage from Chicago to Galena through Little Rock. That route "is marked with a plaque on the Charles O. Smith property on Galena Road.

The home of Jean Morrison, Joliet Road, Lisbon, will be marked with a plaque, as it was once a stagecoach stop.

The V. F. W. hall in Plattville site will be marked as the site of the National Guard Armory.

Representatives of the Underground Railroad In Kendall County who lived in Lisbon will be commemorated at the Lisbon Grade School. Some of the early families believed to have worked on the underground were Bushnell, Kendall, Hills, Russell, Kellogg, Holderman, Sherrill, Wright, Caton and Moore families.

A plaque to mark the site of the first settlers' cabin, built by Robert Beresford, will go on the Gerald Vogen farm In Section 31 of Big Grove Township, in the far southwest corner of the county. Beresford arrived in the county in 1826 and settled In Holderman's Grove.

Another plaque has been dedicated at the Pearl Coomer home, 102 Van Buren in Newark, the site of the first store in the county. The store was opened by George Hollenback in 1831. Called Hollenback's Trading Post, it was burned down during the Blackhawk War.

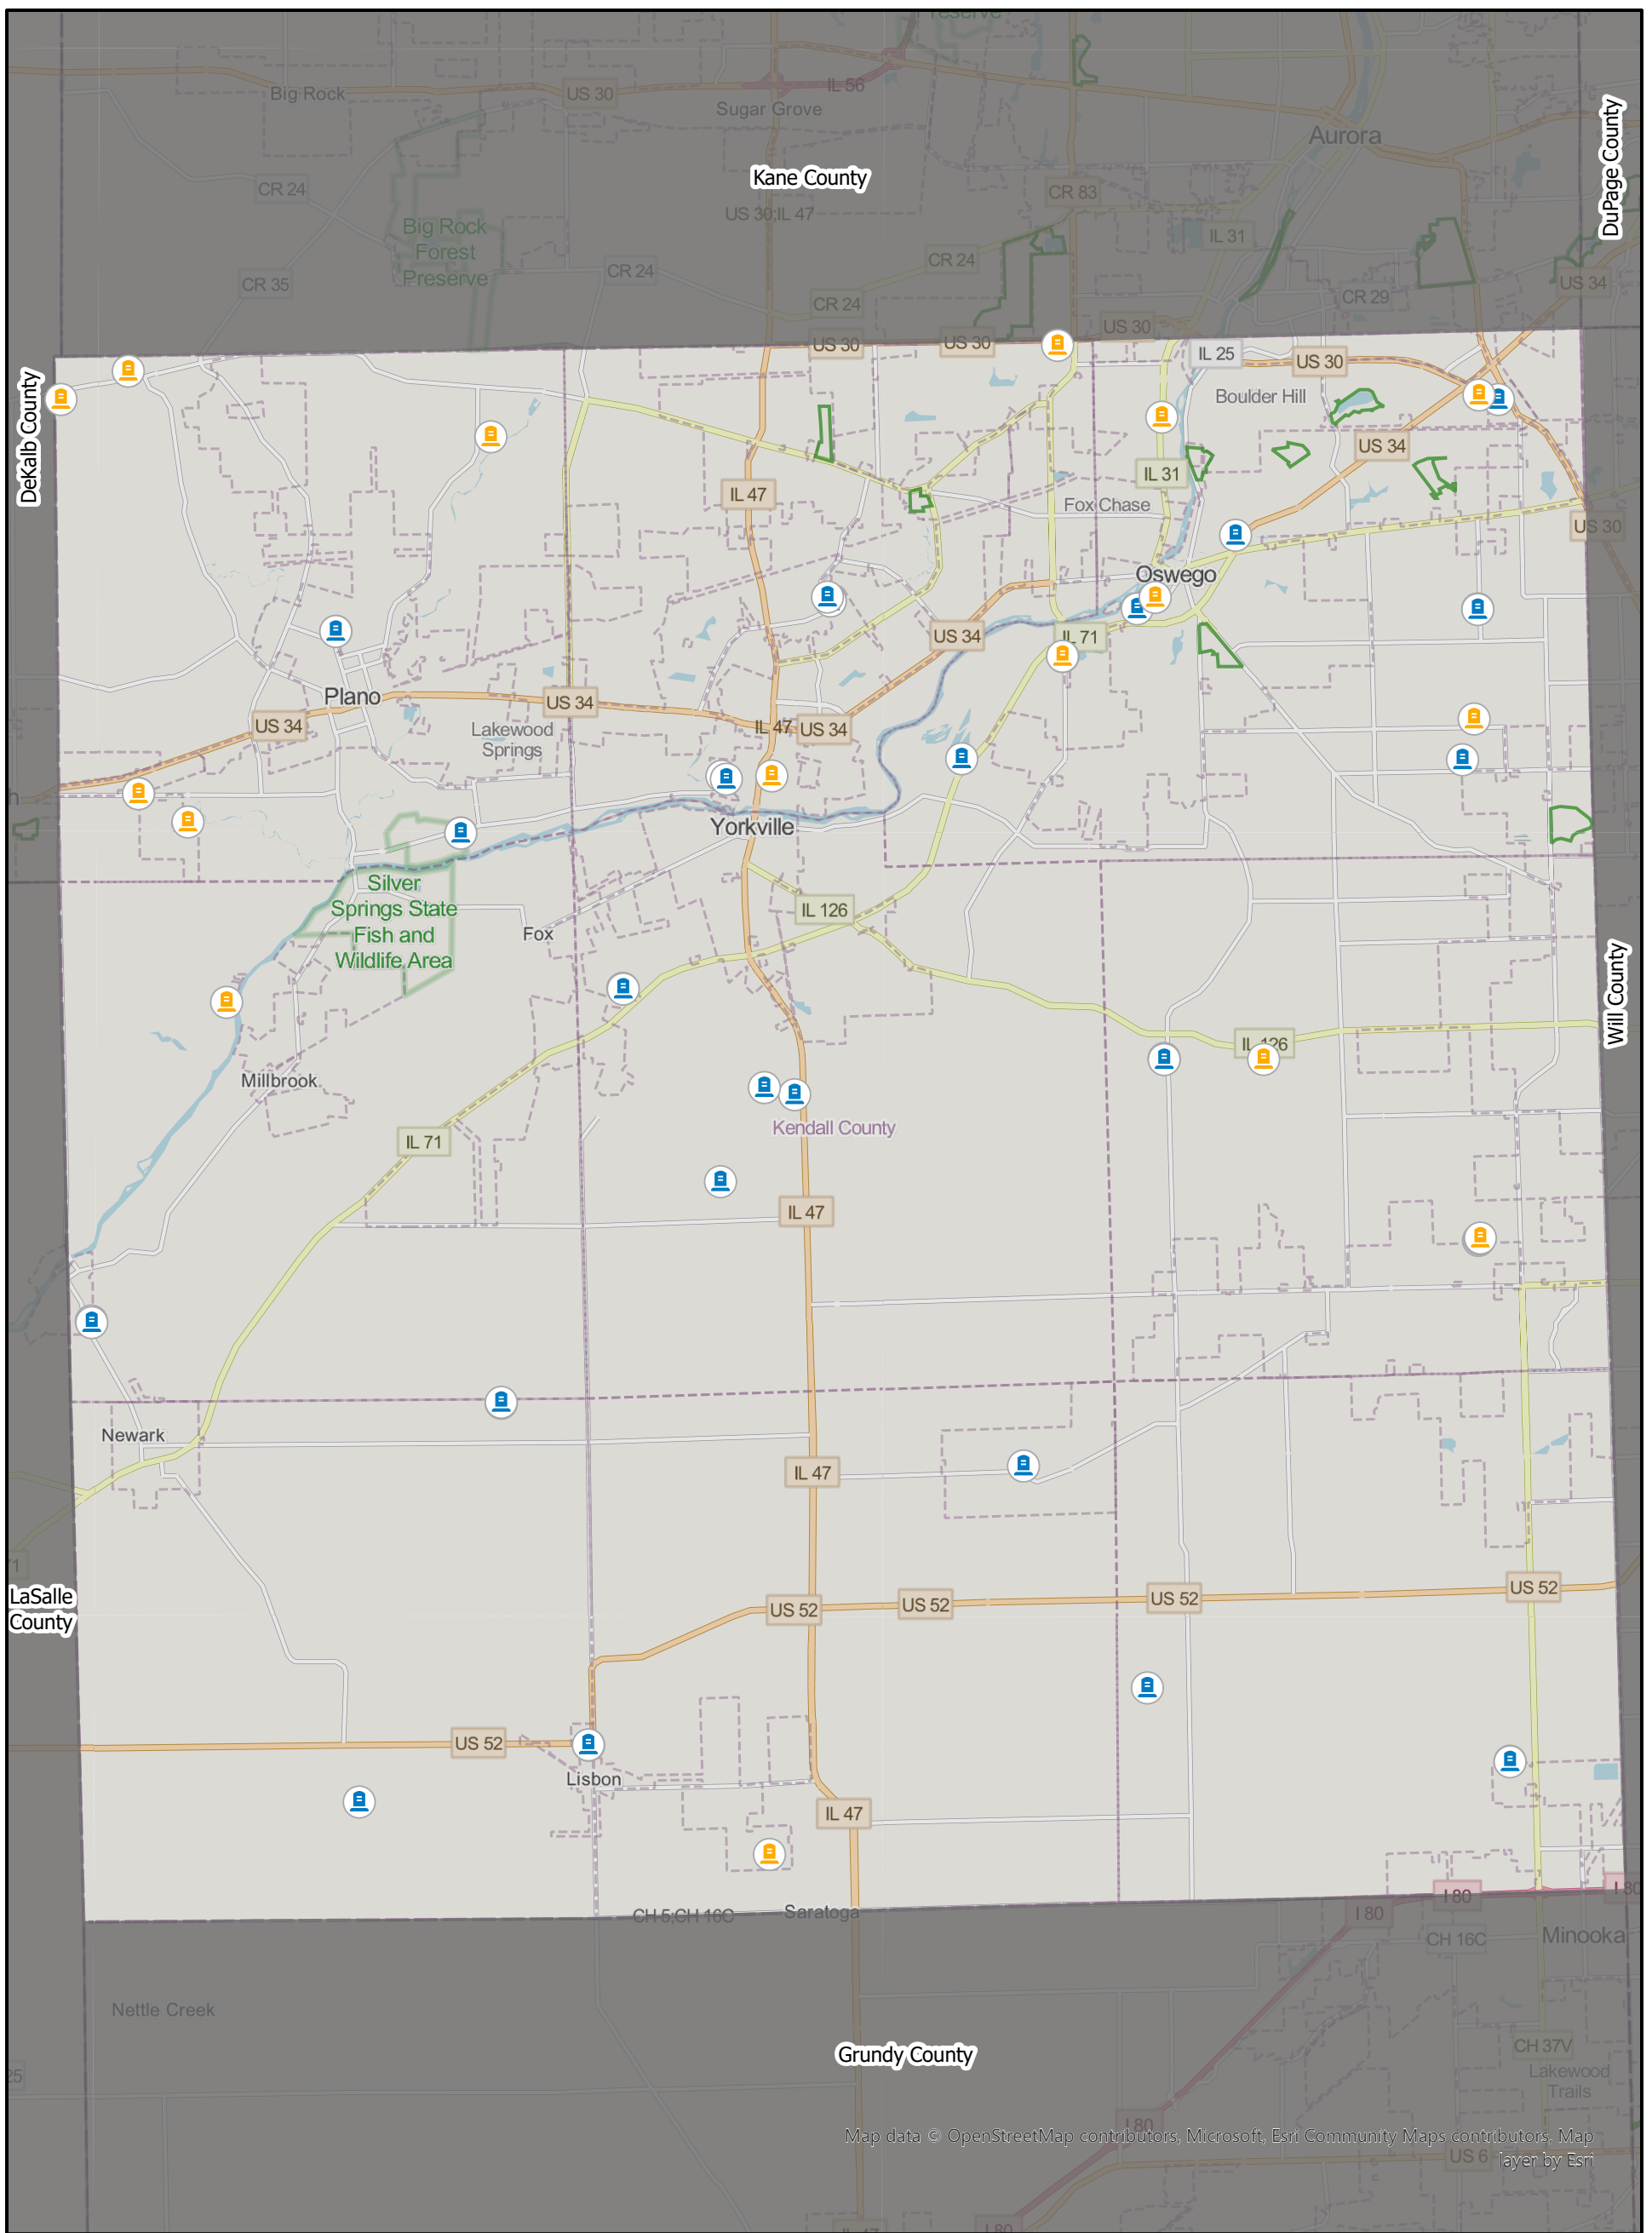

The first schoolhouse in the county was opened in a log cabin at Pavillion in 1834. Classes were taught by C.B. Alvard. The plaque to mark this first school will be at the site of Pavillion.

A plaque will be placed on the Plano Molding building in Plano because the company had its beginnings in the early reaper company in the county's first factory.

WSPY's radio station will have a plaque as the county's first radio station.

The Illinois Midland Railroad, which ran for two miles between Newark and Millington
In about 1917, will be marked with a plaque.

Roger Brown and Miesian Metropolitanism

Chicago artist Roger Brown (1941-1997) and architect Ludwig Mies van der Rohe (1886-1969) most likely never met – but Mies's overwhelming presence in late-20c Chicago influenced Brown's work – in part, due to the admiration of Mies held by Brown's partner, the architect George Veronda (1940-1984). Thoughtful composition and careful restraint characterizes the work of Mies and Brown, who were both enamored by the grit and promise of late-industrial era Chicago. Brown's work exudes the overwhelming melancholy and caricaturist wit of fin de siècle Chicago, and gradually criticizes Miesian uniformity and ubiquity as the postmodern era arrives. This fascinating exhibition is a must-see! Join us for a related event, The Art of Collecting: An Evening of Roger Brown, at Hindman Auctions in Chicago's West Loop office, on Thursday evening, September 22.

Current Exhibitions

Now Inside the House: Every Line Is A Decision

The Edith Farnsworth House is furnished as it was in 1999 – when owned by the British nobleman, Lord Peter Palumbo. From 1972-2003, the Palumbo family enjoyed the house as part of their American country place – including use as a guest house for many visiting artists and sculptors. The family added a boathouse, swimming pool, tennis court, gardens and riding trails to the Farnsworth property – as well as many sculptures, which were later moved to their home in Pennsylvania. Explore this fascinating chapter in the history of the Edith Farnsworth House and for art enthusiasts look for our new in-depth art tours coming soon!

David Wallace Haskins: Landscape + Art

Our 2022 Creative in Residence, David Wallace Haskins, has created a striking centerpiece for the woodland clearing located between the Edith Farnsworth House and the Visitor Center. “Image Continuous” borrows the name of one of Dr. Farnsworth’s poems, and also pays homage to Lord Palumbo’s former sculpture collection. This work captures the ever-changing sky and reflects its natural surroundings, engaging viewers in a cinematic way. Make plans to visit this and for David’s next installation, this fall!

Roger Brown & Miesian Metropolitanism

Midcentury art and architecture are too often studied separately. In the case of Roger Brown and Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, the cultural influences and societal undercurrents acting on these great Chicago Modernists brought their work closer together. This exhibition will put their work side by side to provide a fresh perspective on the aesthetic interplay and philosophical crosscurrents that informed the careers of two of the 20th century’s most distinctive creative minds. This includes Brown’s piece, “Me’s Modern City: View from the Veronda,” INSIDE the Edith Farnsworth House! Exhibit open through November 27, 2022.

Support Edith Farnsworth House Historic Site

A Chicagoland treasure since 1951 and part of the nonprofit National Trust for Historic Preservation since 2003, this architectural icon is a celebrated milestone in the ongoing history of modern design! Beyond its heritage as one of only three single-family homes in the United States designed by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, its legacy for current and future generations is based on an appreciation for nature and the innate human need for places to relax, reflect, and refresh body, mind, and spirit.

In 2022, we have improved our trails and sixty-acre naturalistic landscape, mounted three new exhibitions and a new interpretive wall, refurbished the house to its 1999 appearance as part of “Every Line is a Decision” – and have welcomed visitors from across the country and around the world! Offsite programs in Chicago and Palm Springs reached new audiences and our nearly 30,000 social media followers enjoy new content almost daily. In 2023, we will celebrate the 20th anniversary of becoming a public site, with many new programs and events!

Please make a tax-deductible donation to support ongoing preservation and programming by contributing to our Fall Appeal.
